

Seminar in Thessaloniki

(07. - 10.04.2006)

Handlers from Thessaloniki had invited me, because of the good resonance in the previous year (Athens). Due to a hot source of mineral water a Wellness hotel was at the edge of the city. Rooms of the hotel and a part of the hotel park were rented by the Kyno-Club-Thessaloniki for this meeting and offered to the participants optimal training and accommodation conditions.

Also the weather was very good: So we had sunshine at all days with a little breeze and temperatures around the 25°C.

After the greetings at Friday noon we started with some problem solutions in the obedience, in order to work in the evening still some dogs in the protection.

Many participants of the seminar from the previous year in Athens had traveled also and arrived in the afternoon and late evening.

After dinner individual courses of the training in the theory and the program were prepared for the next days.

The environment offered optimal conditions for tracking training for this season. To my joy - also because of the previous year seminar in Athens - enormous progress was here recognizable at the dogs and their handlers.

But also new methods in the obedience and in the protection work could be explained, discussed in these days and converted by the handlers with their dogs.

Unfortunately I had to return on Monday. Thank you for everything, I enjoyed the stay very much and it made fun to work with you and your dogs. I think, Mikki would dearest have driven a large detour to the airport, so that I would have missed my flight, in order to remain still something. But another seminar already is in planning. Thanks again to Mikki and Kosta, who cared and supplied me in these days in the best way.
